Flagged Clauses

Non-refundable Security Deposit

The security deposit of ■100,000 is non-refundable, which is unusual and may be a sign of a scam.
Severity: SEVERE
Recommendation: Negotiate for a refundable security deposit.

Short Notice Period

The notice period of 48 hours is very short and may not provide enough time for the tenant to find a new place.
Severity: HIGH
Recommendation: Request a longer notice period, such as 30 days.

Lock-In Period

The lock-in period of 11 months may be restrictive and limit the tenant's flexibility.
Severity: HIGH
Recommendation: Consider negotiating for a shorter lock-in period or a break clause.

Maintenance Charges

The tenant is responsible for paying all maintenance charges, which may be a significant expense.
Severity: MEDIUM
Recommendation: Review the maintenance charges and consider negotiating for a more reasonable arrangement.

Cash Only Payments

The requirement for cash only payments may be a sign of a scam and can make it difficult to track payments.
Severity: SEVERE
Recommendation: Request alternative payment methods, such as online banking or checks.

Termination without Discussion

The owner reserves the right to terminate occupancy without prior discussion, which may be unfair to the tenant.
Severity: SEVERE
Recommendation: Negotiate for a more reasonable termination clause that requires prior discussion and notice.
